Burtle Annual Parish Meeting 5.4.17

The Chairman welcomed about twenty parishioners to the meeting and then delivered his report of the Parish Council's activities over the last year. Amongst other things he noted that a great deal of the council's time had been taken up with the chipping activity at Godwin's Peatworks and the nuisance that it was causing to the residents of Burtle. The clerk presented the unaudited accounts for 2016/17.

District Councillor Stuart Kingham gave his report and a report from County Councillor David Huxtable was read as he was unable to attend. Reports from Burtle organisations followed.

The speakers were Councillor Duncan Mc Ginty, Leader of Sedgemoor District Council who gave a short talk about the activities of the council and their preparation for the future. This was followed by the Management team at the Duck, Burtle who gave a short overview of the transformation of the old Tom Mogg into the Duck. The owner of the Duck Mark Lewis was also present and he said that reopening as a pub was quite a gamble but it has paid off and the village now has a pub again. The Chairman closed the formal part of the meeting and all those present took the opportunity to continue informal discussions over tea and coffee.
